Father Joseph Porta of the church assisted Archbishop Hanna in the services which were followed by the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. At the close of the services the children who had received the confirmation formed in a line of march as official escort to the archbishop whom they escorted to the church parsonage.

"JAIL LIFE" IS PASTOR'S TOPIC

WILL START NEW VICE BATTLE

AIDED BY TWO SOCIETIES WILL START CLEANUP

Backed by the Public Welfare and Good Government Leagues, Rev. Paul Edward Petersen, freed Saturday of a trumped up charge of having accepted a bribe, will within the next few days renew his fight against vice in Richmond and the county.

When asked if he would probably have the backing of the district attorney's office in his campaign, Petersen said:

"I guess not. Carlson, an assistant in the district attorney's office having stated on the witness stand during my preliminary hearing that his office was negotiating with a new man for that work, one who could be relied upon."

Petersen has not as yet planned what his first move in the vice crusade will be.

HUNDREDS HEAR UNIQUE SERMON BY ACCUSED MAN

"The sermon which I prepared in the Contra Costa jail" was the unique and interesting topic which Rev. P. E. Petersen spoke upon at the First Methodist church last night. Petersen referred to the prison cell as a place of rest and chose the Bible topic of "Come Unto Me and I will give you Rest." Queer impressions which came to him while in the cell were told by the pastor.

"The jangling of the jailor's keys, the monotonous undertone of the prisoners and the tomb-like silence over all, are things which I will never forget," said Petersen.

PARSONAGE TO BE DEDICATED TOMORROW EVE

Church members will officially dedicate the new parsonage of the First Methodist church tomorrow evening. A house warming party has been arranged for the evening by the Ladies Aid society at which time Rev. Petersen and his family will be welcomed into their new home.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR RETRENCHMENT

It is generally conceded on the part of the taxpayers of this city that retrenchment is necessary on the part of the municipal government and that one of the best places to start is with the police department. Richmond is not a law-breaking community and the work of keeping the peace can be accomplished, if conducted in the right manner, with half of the present force of men now employed.

At the meeting of the council held Thursday evening on the matter of the business license tax, it was shown that the merchants are paying a man to look after the safety of their places of business; that they are not depending on the work of the regular police force to safeguard their property. If this is true, and the statement was not contradicted, what in the world is the regular police force doing and why should we keep and maintain fifteen men to patrol Washington and Macdonald avenues?

There is an opportunity at this time for the council to retrench without hurting anybody. Two men have been dismissed from the force and one has resigned, therefore the police force has been cut down just three men. Why not let it go at that? If others are dismissed or resign, do not appoint men to fill the vacancies unless the number falls below the men actually needed to transact the business of the city. If the public does not see the necessity of maintaining a lot of men just to furnish them jobs and without any other reason, surely the council does not want to appoint them, for after all the members of the council, like the policemen, are the servants of the people and the interests of the latter should be consulted before making up the budget for this or any other expenditure.

WOMAN GIVES $2500 TO LIFT MORTGAGE ON LOCAL CHURCH

Announcement was made at yesterday mornings service, by the pastor, of the First Presbyterian church of this city, that a gift of $2500 had been made by Mrs. Ruth Anna Boyd, of Oakland, to clear the mortgage indebtedness on their church building.

Mrs. Boyd was a former parishioner of the Rev. Harry K. Sanborne, the pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, while he was pastor of the Brooklyn church in East Oakland, and earlier for many years lived on a ranch in the east end of this city.

The generous gift came as a complete surprise to the members of the congregation and was the "Good News Announcement" promised in Saturday evening papers. Joy was seen on all faces when the news was made known and the Doxology was fittingly sung.

REMAKING MEN

A man who has much to do with skilled salesmanship and who, in the course of each year, hires hundreds of men for a line of stores, says that the policy of his company, as laid out by its founder, is not to discharge incompetent men off-land, but to build them over. In the expressive language of this expert, "it is cheaper to 'build' men than to 'fire' them."

Evidently there is a man with an idea of efficiency. If the man under him is found not to be just right—a round peg improperly adjusted to a square hole—he is not thrown out, if it can be helped. "Every person," he says, and truly, "is likely to be a specilist in something. Your wrongly man's specialty may be extremely valuable to the company. Discover it, devolope it, adjust it."

This principle has produced splendid results in practice, he says. He sums up the results in the following words: "Fair-to middling bookkeepers have been transmuted into strong executives indifferent clerks into brilliant salesmen; men who have failed in law and medicine have here found their speciality."

As the Journal-Miner pointed out some time ago, summarizing a report from an Illinois State agricultural experiment station scientists, after discovering a perfectly balanced ration for dairy cows found that the cows did not give as much milk as in reason they should. Furthur investigation disclosed the fact that the trouble was lack of palatability. The cows didn't relish the food though they ate it. A flavoring was added to the food and the milk yield was at once all that the scientists had hoped for at the beginning.

Many a man, many a woman has made a failure of life because there was lack of palatability in the work undertaken by them. It requires a particular strong will before we can do well the things we dislike to do. The work one loves will be done well almost invariably.

There are no waste men, when they are built up on the right foundations in their right places. The "poor stick" should be whittled over. The principle is just as certain in its workings, when applied to boys and girls, as it is to men and women, to life as to a business career.

A BREACH OF ETHICS

Isn't the American Medical association getting to be just a little "unethical?"

It closed its annual convention in Detroit by a public health parade through the city streets. And the doctor's didn't content themselves with merely marching in dignified and decorous procession. They made a real parade of it, with floats showing modern scientific methods of combatting disease. And then they wound up at a big mass meeting, with popular addresses on disease-prevention.

It's contrary to precedent—the doctors can't deny it. But they won't be criticized much for that breach of professional morals and etiquette which have so long masqueraded under the name of "medical ethics." The public opinion frankly rejoices in the new tendency of this profession to come out of its shell, taking the public into its confidence and stripping medical knowledge and practice of their traditional mystery.

The healing art is coming to be a frank, friendly, popular thing instead of an esoteric cult. And the doctors are finding that they lose nothing either in professional efficiency or in popular esteem by open, voluntary co-operation with the public. They are learning that after all, publicity—properly guided and safeguarded, of course—is the best "ethics."

SUBSIDIZING CHILDBIRTH

A bill is pending in the French chamber of deputies proposing that, beginning next January, the government shall pay a stated sum to every woman who bears a child. For the first child the mother is to receive $100; for the second, $200; and $100 for every child thereafter. The father is to be recognized and rewarded by a bonus of $400 when his fourth child is born.

The measure is inspired, of course, by the depletion of France's population by the war, coming after three decades during which the birth rates remained almost stationary. It is necessary to fill the ranks again, and to insure a yearly surplus of births over deaths hereafter, if the nation is not to suffer slow extinction.

Some of the other belligerent countries are likely to adopt the same policy. And eventually we may even adopt it in the United State. Not, let us hope, as an artificial device to fill gaps caused by war, or even to stimulate the growth of population in normal times. We are still far removed from any menace of "race suicide."

WHY IS IT?

That all baseball and football players when written about individually are stars?

That a politician who does not even control his own vote is a leader? That there is no business man who is not prominent? That the most humble enters the "leading-citizen" class when he dies?

That the weather cannot be anything but fine or rotten?

That the natural state of an Armenian is being massacred?

That a fire cannot possibly do anything but rage, and that a flood has nowhere to go but on a rampage?

That a soldier who was drafted into the army is a volunteer?

That a lawyer is smart, a doctor skilful, a painter talented and a musician is an artist?

That any man who owns a share of baseball company stock becomes a magnate?

That a candidate invariably sweeps his biliwick?

That two politicians never meet and just talk, but that they hold a conference?

That half a million dollars makes any man a multi-millionaire?

That a gown is always handsome or gorgeous, a bride pretty, a wedding beautiful—same as Yellowstone park?

That a salesman insists upon your buying shoes that are too small?

A vote for Hughes may be a vote for a very estimable gentleman deeply learned in the law—but it is also a vote for the revival of Connonism, Aldrichism, Ballingerism, and all the other idols who still retain the secret loyalty of the inner circles of the G. O. P.

NOTES FROM THE PLAYHOUSES

ORPHEUM THEATRE (Oakland)

After all there is nothing in the world—the stage world—like Orpheum vaudeville, and next week the most delightful sort of vaudeville will be in evidence at the Oakland Orpheum. The bill will be especially brilliant.

J. Anthony Smythe, the favorite actor, will make his debut as the leading man of the Orpheum players, in Edward People's delightful three-act play, "A Pair of Sixes." This play will also introduce to Oakland theater-goers, for the first time, the young dramatic star, Verna Felton.

There is an appealing quality in the fine high baritone voice of George MacFarlane that has won for him a rare position in the musical world. No one can put the dash and go and the force of charm in a love song that MacFarlane does. MacFarlane was one of the stars of the Gilbert and Sullivan Opera company that was recently in such high favor in New York. He starred "The Midnight Girl" and innumberable other successes of the past half dozen years. Last season he was the "Laird" of the all-star revival of "Trilby" and was later promoted to full-fledged stardom and appeared in a comedy called "The Heart of the Heather."

Bert Clark is a first-class comedian, combining mental and physical agility with a certain irresistible whimsicality that has made him one of England's favorite musical comedy stars. Miss Hamilton is pretty and versatile. She sings and dances well and is an excellent foil for her partner's comedy.

Their present vehicle, "A Wayward Conceit," is not even a skit. It is just a line of clever dialogue introducing a number of original songs with a special scenic set for each together with costume changes.

Whoever was responsible for calling Harry Tighe the "you-all-know-him" comedian, made a bullseye. Mr. Tighe with various associates has introduced his brand of humor to the American public and is now recognized as one of the most stable articles the theater offers over its counters. Tighe is an extemporaneous comedian. His banter is ad lib and his foolery is never just the same. The most trifling incident he is capable of adapting to his own use and succeeds in making up a prize-package of joy. Mr. Tighe is at present assisted by Sylvia Jasen, the dainty and petite ingenue.

Ragtime is King! From the plantation banjo to the symphony orchestra, syncopated melody holds full sway. Even the xylophone has become a ragtime medium. Libonita, one of the acknowledged masters of this instrument, devotes most of his program to this style of music.

PANTAGES THEATRE (Oakland)

Close on the announcement of a gigantic combination whereby Alexander Pantages, vaudeville magnate, has opened to himself the door to the greatest theatrical attractions in the entire world, comes news of one of the greatest vaudeville bills Oakland has ever seen. This week's show is headed by "The Heart of Chicago," scenically wonderful, and still more wonderful from the standpoint of a vaudeville attraction, the big bill will include the kings and queens of the variety stage.

The program fairly teems with famous names;—such names as the Kerville family, Baby Violet, the famous little songstress, Clark and Chapelle, whose names are synonymous with laughter;—and a dozen others. Then, of course, there will be the big double motion picture bill.

It would be hard indeed to overpraise such a show as comes to the Pantages this week; even if the show needed it. But it does not. The names are enough. When one sees famous names one knows that the bill is a big one. And—watch the famous names at the Pantages.

"The Heart of Chicago" is the crucial point in the great melodrama of the same name; granted that it was a dramatic curiosity;—it had the greatest "punch" of any play in years. The wonderful "approaching engine" effect; a sight that outclassed the "Ben Hur" chariot race, is shown in its entirety with exactly the same engine used in the original production. It is an act no one can afford to miss.

Then there are Billy Clark and Ethel Chapelle, in "The Saleslady and the Porter";—just one laugh after another, and Cleopatra," a wonderful dancing spectacle with Bothwell Browne and Francis Young and their pretty girls.

WEEK END OUTFITS

NEW YORK, July 10.—French women making a serious study of clothes, buy only a few things at a time and those of the just right sort, which look suitable and smart for almost any occasion. Successful week end outfits built after this plan go easily in a suit case yet leave nothing lacking for any occasion which may arise from a club dance to a boat race.

7255—7249
McCall Designs

THE TOP COAT

The top coat carried on the arm to be in readiness, as well as to save room in the suit case, should be warm enough to be comfortable in a car, or when the night turns chilly protect the thin gown and its wearer. A richly colored velvet finished velcour cloth is perhaps the best choice for this, or one of the corded velvets in becoming tone, though these are not as smart or cosy. The cut and details of finish and placing of the buttons are all important in this class of coat. Ample fullness is essential and it should be either full length or nearly so. Rich tones of purple, green, rose, lemon or "tilleul," which is the color of a lime and goes fashionably with anything, or if one prefers white or light shades of gray or bisque, may be selected.

TRAVELLING SUIT

The suit or coat dress should be handsome enough to do duty at almost any function, and combinations of taffeta, faille, crepe-de-chine or satin with Georgette crepe, come in any number of smart models that fit in this class. Navy blue remains the first favorite, but any other coloring is quite suitable, or one can have a fancy striped or checked silk in equally modish taste if one prefers.

SPORT SKIRTS AND BLOUSES

Packed in the suitcase there should be two or more sport skirts of mohair silk, linen or awning cloth and as many blouses with a sweater or two of silk, fibre or wool. A suit of fluffy lingerie to wear with a pretty fussy frock for a dance or dinner, and the necessary small fixings in footwear, hosiery, and ornaments that tuck in in the pockets in the cover of the case.

If one is clever about adjusting the veil, almost any hat can be worn without injury on the train, or the sport hat can be used there and a pretty satin or straw packed in the grip cleverly, while an extra smart coaching umbrella will do for either a garden party or a shower.

MODISH LUGGAGE

Week-end cases of enamel leather, made with a little tray and with pockets in the lid are especially nice, but if one has the usual leather kind it is easy to secure boxes that will hold belongings that are apt to crush, and to fix elastic straps, or wide tapes with buckles to keep things ship shape and neat. Much can be said for the well made bamboo case with a waterproofed lining, especially if there is any liklihood that the owner herself must do most of the toting.

Two of these latter receptacles will take a well dressed woman on a very long trip, and hold the essentials of a comfortable and stylish outfit if well thought out, one case carrying the utility things, that are in constant demand, the other the choicer part of the outfit that needs to be unpacked only at intervals and keeps fresher for escaping constant handling.

ELKS WALLOP REDS 2-1 YESTERDAY; RECORD CROWD SEES GAME; BOWEN IS STAR

A record crowd watched the Richmond Elks carve their way to a 2-1 victory over the Modesto Reds at the valley town yesterday afternoon.

That the lodge-men did not take their winning of the game two weeks ago as a sample of the Reds' ability to play the national pastime was proven when they paraded onto the field with three new faces in the lineup. Pat Bohen, who has been going great guns in the bush leagues about the bay, occupied the mound; Monte Phyl covered first and Benn held down third. Though the Reds found Bohen for seven healthy singles they failed to clout the horsehide when a bingle meant a hit.

Mobley allowed the Elks but four hits during the entire nine innings, but a walk and two of the four safeties in the fifth frame put the winning run across.

In the last half of the first, with two down, Toomes singled, went to second when Ferlin made first on Bohen's error, and both advanced on a wild throw, Toomes scoring the Reds' only run.

In the fourth, Heister drew a walk, was advanced by Melchoir, made third when McDonough flies to Toomes, and scored when Westmoreland threw wild to Ferlin, trying to get Cullen for the third out.

Richmond, not satisfied with tying the score, came back in the fifth and put the winning run across when Daniels walked, went to third on Christensen's single, and scored on Phyl's only hit of the day. The score:

"JOHNNY" SHINKLE WINS GAME IN FINE STYLE

FRESNO, July 10.—Fair-haired Johnny Shinkle of Richmond won his first game for the Fresno Tigers yesterday, the Sperry Flour aggregation being on the short end of a 3-1 mixup. Little Johnny pitched fine baseball and but for a bobble at second base by Bill Kelly would have broken into the shutout class. This was the only bobble the Tigers made, their playing being right up to the handle. At that they had little to do, for of the 22 men to face Johnny 13 were retired on strikes, Toomey and Steel weer the two men to escape while Christy and Witt were the opposite fanning every time up.

Opposed to Johnny was Stewart and he pitched a nice game of baseball in every inning but the second, when three hits, a man hit by a pitched ball and two errors gave the Tigers their three runs.

Shinkle struck out 18 and allowed but three hits.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Mexican Ambassador-Designate Arredondo today notified the state department that he had received definite information from the de facto government that Villista bandits were heading north toward the Big Bend district of Texas.

Arredondo was unable to give information as to the number of banditts. Warning of their approach was first sent last week to the war department and forwarded to Major General Funston.

1800 MILES UNDER WATER IS RECORD OF GERMAN U-BOAT

Sighted off Cape May June 9, at 1:20 a. m.

Left Kiel June 10.

Traveled 4100 miles, 1800 of them under water.

Crew of 29 men, all of the German merchant fleet, and not from the navy.

Dodged, or dived under, hundreds of British and French warships blocking German ports. Chased by others for thirty hours.

Three hundred and fifteen feet long.

Unarmed. Cargo, 1000 tons of dyestuffs.

She is in excellent condition.

She ran through the North Sea, submerged the entire distance. Two-thirds of the way across the Atlantic ocean the sight of a Dutch merchant vessel made her submerge again.

Six hundred miles from the Virginia coast, hostile ships made her submerge and go 200 miles out to sea. Then she plunged back to within 100 miles of land.
